THE BOARD OF EDITORS

That collect telegram, my children, is the reason your little playmate is with you until the august editors of this sheet hold a meeting and decide whether or not to fire us. At one time they hoped we would graduate and they would be saved the trouble, but with these new high scholastic standards, that happy day seems far off.

Right after we hitch-hiked our way back to Washington, being arrested only twice on the way (once a murder suspect, and once as a vagrant) we rushed to our dear University to see what had happened during the summer.

We were so shocked by what we saw that we staggered weakly into the arms of Prexy. "Please introduce us around," we pleaded in plaintive tones.

"Been lots of changes here," he commenced briskly in a professional rubber-neck wagon style. "Here in the administration building we have sent Elmer Louis to New York for a new supply of pipes, cigars, and jokes.

"We made Prof. Holt Adviser to Students from Foreign Countries, and gave him as much space on the sign out front as the President and the Provost combined. Isn't that generosity?

"Over here we moved the sign down off the cannon, and put it out front. That's so the National Guard men can see the sights while they practice firing. That is to give the bursar lessons in operating the gun this fall.

"Down in the basement of this Woodhull Administration Building we have put in a vault for the records of the University. Student records are kept in fire-proof vaults in Building One and one-half.

"See, we've traded our Dean of Men in on a Dean of the Lower Division, and put him in Building Two, to be near the Columbian Dean. Deans love company, you know.

"Notice the iron fence is down? We did that so those who used to hold it up could be relieved and have more time for study.

"Brought the Dean of the Graduate School of Letters and Sciences down from his perch and put him in Dean Hill's old office. The standards of the school are not lowered, however.

"This unseemly levity has to stop, so we have made a classroom of Dean Doyle's Ghost Office.

"Bought a couple of new buildings, too. Going to have a map made of the grounds so the Frosh can find their way around. Hope none of them gets hit by a street car.

"Hope you do. End of route. Fifty cents, please."

Have you made your date for the G. W. - C. U. game Thanksgiving? Looks as if Coach Jimmie Pixlee might give us a win this year.

Wonder if midnight rushing parties with blackjacks much in evidence will be the vogue this fall. Advice to freshmen: Trust no pin but a safety pin during your first few weeks here.

Yours till we know our fate.

UNIVERSITY ADDS 106 TO FACULTY OF COMING YEAR

Includes Four Professors, Three Associate Profs, and Six Assistant Profs

NUMBER ON STAFF OF INSTRUCTION NOW 406

New Consulting Director For Department of Home Economics Also Acquired

The University Faculty will have 106 new full-time and part-time members, including four professors, three associate professors, six assistant professors, twelve instructors, one professorial lecturer, twelve lecturers, four associates, four clinical professors, five clinical associates and fifty-two clinical instructors, as well as a consulting director for the Department of Home Economics and two justices of the Moot Court of Appeals, bringing the number on the staff of instruction to a total of 406.

Among the new faculty members of professorial rank are the following:

William Cullen French, Ph. D., becomes Professor of Education. Professor French formerly was a member of the faculty of New York University.

James H. Taylor, Ph. D., has been appointed Professor of Mathematics and Executive Officer of the Mathematics Department. Prior to coming to George Washington, Professor Taylor taught at the University of Wisconsin. He studied at the University of Chicago under the eminent mathematician, Dr. Gilbert Ames Bliss, and at Princeton University, and has held the National Research Council Fellowship in Mathematics.

Willard Hayes Yeager, A. M., will occupy the Depew Chair of Oratory as Professor of Public Speaking. Professor Yeager, formerly acting head of the Department of Public Speaking at the University of Illinois, holds the degree of Master of Arts from Ohio State University. He is the co-author, with William P. Sanford, of the University of Illinois, of numerous volumes on public speaking.

Leland A. Brown, Ph. D., formerly of the State University of Iowa, will join the faculty as Associate Professor of Zoology. Professor Brown holds the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard University. He has taught at the University of Pittsburgh, Harvard University, Radcliffe College and the State University of Iowa, and has acted as scientific assistant at the Carnegie Institution of Washington to Cold Spring Harbor as a special investigator. Professor Brown is a specialist in the field of heredity and genetics, and will offer courses in those subjects.

Dudley Wilson Willard, Ph. D., has been made Associate Professor of Sociology. Formerly of the staff of Clark University, he is a graduate of the University of Washington. He is the author of a number of papers upon sociological subjects.

Frances Kirkpatrick, A. M., who becomes Assistant Professor of Home Economics, is a graduate of the University of Missouri and Columbia University. Miss Kirkpatrick has taught at Louisiana State University and at the University of Alabama.

Elizabeth A. Lathrop, A. B., who has been made Assistant Professor of Library Science, is a graduate of Milwaukee-Downer and has done graduate work at the University of Chicago and the University of Wisconsin. She has taught at the State Normal School, Pittsburg, Kansas, and at Milwaukee-Downer College, and has had wide experience as a librarian.

Dr. Florence Marie Mears, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, holds the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Cornell University. Her undergraduate work was done at Goucher College. Dr. Mears has taught at Pennsylvania State College and Alabama College.

Edgar William Wollard, Ph. D., Assistant Professor of Mathematics, is an alumnus of the George Washington University. He is the author of numerous papers in the field of mathematics, a member of seven scientific societies, corresponding secretary of the Philosophical Society, a member of the Board of Editors of the Washington Academy and on the staff of the United States Weather Bureau.

Dr. Irene Cornwell, who has been appointed Assistant Professor of Romance Languages, is a graduate of the University of Michigan and of the Universite de Paris. She has spent more than eight years in France in study of the French Language. Dr. Cornwell formerly was on the staff of the University of Wisconsin.

The complete list of new faculty members follows:

Department of Anatomy: Vincent Clarence Gould, M. D., Instructor in Anatomy.

Bacteriology and Pathology: Ruth Jackson, A. B., Instructor in Bacteriology; Harry Arnold Hull McNitt, M. D., Instructor in Pathology.

Botany: William Webster Diehl, M. S., Lecturer on Mycology; Paul Vincent Mook, M. S., Instructor in Botany; John M. Large, M. S., Instructor in Botany.

Chemistry: Leason Heberling Adams, B. S., Lecturer in Chemistry; Joseph Alfred Ambler, Ph. D., Lecturer

James E. "Jimmy" Pixlee, Professor of Physical Education and Director of Athletics

FOUR ABLE ASSISTANTS AID PIXLEE AS DIRECTOR OF UNIVERSITY SPORTS

Farrington and Sexton from Westminster, Connaughton From Georgetown, and Walsh From Minnesota, Round Out Coaching Staff

CONNAUGHTON WON FAME AT GEORGETOWN PLAYING ALL-AMERICAN GUARD IN 1926

Leonard Walsh, Who Starred on Minnesota's Football Team in 1925, Will Have Charge of Coaching Varsity Material For Backfield

The present coaching staff of the University is the largest and most competent in the history of the school.

Head Coach James E. Pixlee, formerly of Westminster College, Missouri, who was announced as Director of Athletics of George Washington last spring, has collected about him as assistants four men of unquestioned ability.

Max Farrington and Jean Sexton were both former stars in several sports at Westminster and earned their spurs under Coach Pixlee, and so it was natural that when he was appointed Athletic Director of the University, he should bring with him these two men with whose ability he was thoroughly acquainted. This fall they are to have almost complete charge of the Freshman football team, of which a great deal is expected. Coach Sexton is also to have charge of track and intramural sports. For the past two years he has been Athletic Director of the Higginsville, Mo., High School, and so is well adapted to his new undertaking.

Farrington, who has been Pixlee's right-hand man for the past few years, will continue in that capacity. He will also have charge of the varsity baseball team in the spring, as well as all Freshman teams.

Babe Connaughton is probably more familiar to George Washington students because of his former connections with Georgetown University. He was a regular member of the Hoya's football team for several years and his great work at guard in 1926 earned him All-American recognition. The former Georgetown athlete is to coach the line of the varsity team this coming year and should fill the bill quite capably as his knowledge of the game is extensive.

The other man who rounds out this great coaching staff is Leonard Walsh, who will have charge of the varsity ends and will help with the backfield. Walsh's record on the gridiron is equally as fine as that of Connaughton, for in 1925 he was placed on Walter Eckersall's All-American team because of his stellar work with Minnesota's football team.

It can quite readily be seen that the coaching staff of the University could be favorably compared with that of any other college or university throughout the country.

HATCHET CANDIDATES

There will be a meeting of all candidates for positions on The Hatchet staff on Thursday evening, September 26, 1929, in Room 29, of Corcoran Hall. All new candidates as well as members of last year's staff are expected to report. Following a policy set last year, no late applications will be considered.

Dr. Hunter Again Head Of Alumni Association

Eminent Pathologist Reelected at Annual Summer Meeting of Organization Held at University

Dr. Oscar Benwood Hunter, eminent pathologist and Assistant Dean of The George Washington University School of Medicine, was reelected President of the General Alumni Association of The George Washington University at its annual meeting held at the University during the summer.

The association voted a $500 gift to the University, to be applied to the building fund, duplicating the gift of last year.

The association passed an amendment to its constitution increasing the number of vice presidents to provide for one to represent each school of the University. The acquisition of 750 new members during the past year was reported.

Other officers of the association elected for next year are: Vice Presidents, Miss May Paul Bradshaw, Miss Emilie Margaret White, Mr. Harold E Warner, Mr. James Robert Kirkland, Mr. William F. Roeser, Dr. Charles B. Campbell, Dr. Ralph L. Morrison, and Dr. Cline N. Chipman; Treasurer, Miss Irene Pistorio; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Margaret Maize; Executive Secretary, Miss Marcelle LeMenager.

After the business meeting the Men's Glee Club of the University entertained with a program of songs. A reception and dance in honor of the members of the graduating classes followed.

LARGE REGISTRATION FOR ALL COLLEGES EXPECTED BY HEADS OF UNIVERSITY

All Schools Except Medicine and Law Register in Corcoran Hall; Few Changes in Procedure of Registration Made This Year

TO LAST FROM SEPTEMBER 21 THROUGH SEPTEMBER 24 FOR REGULAR STUDENTS

Registration of Last Year Totaled 7,377; Students From Every State of The Union, Philippine Islands, and Sixteen Foreign Countries

Thousands of students begin registration today in every college of the University. Columbian College, The Graduate School of Letters and Sciences, The School of Engineering, The School of Education, The School of Pharmacy, The School of Government, The Division of Library Science and the Division of Fine Arts will have headquarters in Corcoran Hall. Students in The School of Medicine and The Law School register in the Medical School Building and Stockton Hall, respectively. Registration will continue from today through September 24, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12, and 2 p. m. and 6 p. m.

Registration permits have been mailed to all of last year's students who are in good standing. Students not in residence and those not in good standing must apply to the Admissions Office for permits.

Last year there were 5,961 students registered in the schools of the University and 1,416 in summer school, making a total of 7,377, and it is expected that this year's enrollment will show an increase over these numbers. Columbian College had 2,910 students; the graduate School of Letters and Sciences, 389; the School of Medicine, 289; the School of Nursing, 55; the Law School, 766; the School of Engineering, 437; the School of Pharmacy, 61; the School of Education, 748; the School of Government, 80; the Division of Library Science, 126; and the Division of Fine Arts, 100. Included in this number were students from every State in the Union, the Philippine Islands, and 16 foreign countries.

Enter Northeast Door

This year the students enter the northeast door of Corcoran Hall. The Lower Division and all foreign students register on first floor. The Upper Division and the Professional Schools go to the second floor. As before, there are advisers who look over every program, and help the student in picking his courses.

All students end up in Corcoran Hall 1 to fill out registration blanks, and then go to the Registrar's Office on G Street to pay their bills.

For registration after September 24 a fee of $5.00 will be charged. Registration in all courses for credit closes on October 9. No change in program may be made after the last day on which registration is permitted, and registration may be changed only with the permission of the adviser or major professor and the Dean of the College concerned. A fee of $2.00 is charged for each change. Application for making a change in registration should be filed in the office of the Registrar.

Students desiring to transfer from one college to another should make formal application to the college to which transfer is desired. This change may be made only at the beginning of a semester and upon approval of the Deans of the Colleges concerned.

In changing from one curriculum group to another or in changing the major subject, all requirements specified in the new courses of study must be satisfied before graduation.

SORORITIES TO START RUSHING ON FEBRUARY 16

Second Semester Plan Inaugurated by Panhellenic After Three Years of First

BIG SISTERS TO HELP FRESHMEN AT FIRST

Leaflets and Talks By Sorority Girls On Sororities Part of Panhel Plan

Second semester rushing will take the place of first semester rushing, which has been in practice for the last three years among the women's fraternities at George Washington University.

As is customary a Little Sister Movement will be inaugurated with the opening of school and will continue for at least three weeks following, during which time no sorority pins may be worn and each upperclassman initiates a Freshman into the mysteries and the rules and customs of the University.

At the end of the three-week period a party will be given by the Y. W. C. A. for the Big and Little Sisters and the wearing of pins will be resumed. The Little Sister Movement may be continued longer, however.

Educational Plan

After the Y. W. C. A. party Panhellenic leaflets will be distributed to the freshmen girls. These leaflets will contain information regarding rushing and the various sororities on the campus and will be part of the new educational plan for Freshmen which is being instigated by Panhellenic Council this year. A series of talks by a girl from each sorority on different aspects of the sorority will be given to Freshmen groups as a further part of the educational scheme.

During the first semester of school there will be no restriction on the Freshmen and sorority girls on the campus. Freshmen girls will not be permitted to visit sorority girls at their homes or in their rooms, nor will they be allowed to have sorority girls at their homes. There is no other limitation except that upperclass girls may not spend money on the Freshmen.

Teas First Day

Rushing will begin after mid-year examinations when only those girls who have made the required scholastic average will be eligible for pledging. The rushing period will start on February 16 and continue through February 25. The first day will be held open for teas by each sorority for the Freshmen. February 17, 18, 19 and 20 will be closed dates. Each sorority will have a closed date for a party on one of these days, the time to be selected by scholastic preference.

Final Parties on 25th

The remainder of the rushing period with the exception of the last day will be open for general rushing by all sororities. February 25 has been selected as the date for the final parties, all of which will be given at the same time, from seven o'clock until midnight.

Invitations to the final party must be in the hands of the Panhellenic Committee by Monday, February 24, at ten o'clock, and the reply must be in by ten o'clock, Tuesday, February 25. A financial limit of one hundred and fifty dollars has been set.

A Panhellenic post office will be used to receive and distribute invitations and answers to the final party and possibly the other closed dates.

A period of non-communication will follow, beginning midnight February 25 and continuing until pledge day, the exact date of which will be decided later in the year.

PROF. BEMIS RETURNS FROM EUROPEAN WORK

Professor Samuel Flagg Bemis of the History Department, who for the past two years has been engaged in research work in Europe as Director of the European Mission of the Library of Congress, returns to active service at the University this fall.

Professor Bemis has made photostats of the correspondence of the Governors of the American Colonies as well as of the West Indies with their home governments; and dispatches of representatives of foreign powers from U. S. to the home government up to the year 1830.

This undertaking was the biggest of its kind in any nation. It was made possible by gifts, one of which was from John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

GET ACQUAINTED

College is one of the best places that we will ever find to make friends. It is doubtful whether the average college student takes advantage of this opportunity to the fullest extent. This is particularly true of the incoming freshman who feels somewhat timid when thrown in contact with a vast student body. Every student has his own little group of intimate associates; besides these each one has a large group of good friends. Generally, these are the people whom you have met in class. There are many who you never meet in class. For this reason everyone should attend some of the organization meetings. Get into something worthwhile, where you can work with others. Boost your intellectual and social life at the same time.

RUSHING RULES

The fraternal organizations on the George Washington campus will again follow the rules made last year with repect to rushing.

During the closed period of orientation there may be no solicitation whatever among the members of the incoming freshmen. All organizations are debarred from approaching the yearlings in behalf of any cause.

In this category are placed both the men's and women's fraternities, which may not make advances until the close of the freshman period. The enforcement of this provision lies ostensibly in the hands of the Dean of Men and of the Interfraternity Council, but there can be no enforcement without the absolute cooperation of every member of the student body.

There were rumors current in the spring of 1929 concerning violations of this ruling. Many were undoubtedly unfounded, but others had a basis of truth. We want no blots on our record, and we feel that a little care and a little consideration of the purpose of the regulation will suffice to prevent infraction.

This ruling will be strenuously enforced this year by the Interfraternity Council, but the full support of everyone is essential. We do, therefore, ask every fraternity man to cooperate in the rigid enforcement of this ruling, namely that no freshman be entertained or approached by a fraternity until the close of the freshman period.

ACTIVITIES

The problem of extra-curricular activities and their relation to scholarship is one which is ever present on the campus of this and other universities. We believe, however, that the unusually large number of organizations at George Washington University warrant the contention that the extra-curricular problem here is of greater importance than in the case of the average university.

Although the problem is as yet only in the process of being solved, the theory that indulgence in extra-curricular activities is detrimental to scholarship has at last been relegated to its philosophy. It is interesting to note that public opinion on the matter is in direct opposition to the facts.

Within the last three years the Sociology departments of several universities produced statistics to the effect that those who are most interested in their work, not included in the curriculum, are those who rank highest in scholarship. Good students are interested in three outside activities and honor students are interested in four.

The reasons underlying these findings are not difficult to conceive. In the first place, it is only the capable student who can get through studying soon enough in the day to have time left for extra-curricular work. In the second place, the student who can not make good grades is seldom capable of succeeding in the field of outside activities. In the third place, the presence of an ambition to succeed in any given field of endeavor is usually accompanied by the ability to attain some measure of success in that chosen field. The student must have ability to rank high in any phase of activity. In view of this it is therefore obvious that the same student will rank high both in scholarship and in extra-curricular endeavor.

We contend that a correct division of time between academic activities and the so-called extra-curricular activities cannot be accomplished without giving consideration to the ability of the student concerned. Participation in the one does not necessarily lower efficiency in the other.

The matter is one to be solved by the individual student and one which can be correctly solved in the light of ability and personal situations.

At all events, it is urged that new students form an interest in the extra-curricular life of the University. These activities play an important part in undergraduate life and their importance is being recognized more each year.

GREATER ATHLETICS

The Hatchet has noted the organization of a complete and competent staff of coaches and instructors in the department of physical education and athletics. This is a great step forward, and the only sound, logical step which could have been taken in view of the circumstances which prevailed at the University during the past few years.

Since the foundation for better athletics has been made in a fashion characteristic of the movement for a Greater George Washington University, The Hatchet joins with the general student body in looking forward to the years which loom ahead, and in looking forward Director Pixlee and his staff may be assured that The Hatchet will lend its fullest support and cooperation in promoting any reasonable program which may be adopted.

FESTIVITIES of all kinds are already commencing, ushering in the new fall season. Dances, bridge parties, weddings, vacations, etc., offer varied subjects for groups gathering around campus and elsewhere to discuss the happenings of the last three months.

Friday, the thirteenth, turned out to be a lucky day for all those who were fortunate enough to rate an invitation to the S. A. E's first dance of the season, held at their house that night.

Wisconsin summer school proved to be a very popular place this summer. Among the G. W. ites attracted there were Virginia and Josie Latterner, Jeanne Miles, Betty Waller, Jean Sime and Margaret Monk.

The T. U. O's opened their social season with a dance at their Chapter House on Friday, September 20.

Tommy Tompkins is visiting in Williamsburg, Virginia, and will probably attend William and Mary this winter.

Wally Schutt entertained a number of his friends at his home in Cherrydale on Saturday, September 21. Among the guests were Carolyn Brasch, Maude Hudson, Verna Parsons, Hermione John, Alice Walford, George Von Daushenhausen, Bob Gray, Barney Conger, Charlie Jaquette and Eddie Myers.

Ruth De Vane attended the summer sessions at the University of Vermont.

Sigma Chi entertained at a dance for its members and friends on Wednesday, September 18, at the Chapter House.

Opening their fall season the K. A's held a dance at the Bethesda Club on Saturday, September 14. Happy Walker's Orchestra was grand as usual, and everyone enjoyed himself in the old-time spirit.

Dan Beatty spent two weeks in the lake region of New Jersey, later going to New York for a week, where he broadcasted a piano recital over the radio.

Among those fortunate enough to travel to Europe this summer were Louise Du Bose, Margaret Moreland, Ruth Smith, Alice McAuliffe, Catherine Scrivener and Alice Hershey.

Delia Little entertained the Chi Omega's at a bridge party at her home on Monday, September 16.

Howard and Leslie Murphy spent their vacation at their home in Kansas.

McWilliams' Orchestra furnished the music for a most successful dance given by the Theta Delta Chi Fraternity at their Chapter House on August 22.

October 2nd has been chosen as the date for the next Kappa Alpha dance. The place has not been selected as yet.

The Alexandria Boat Club was very popular with G. W's social set this summer. Almost any Friday night one might see his friends there—those who were in town for the summer anyway.

Catherine Dille visited Hawaii, California and Yellowstone Park during her summer vacation.

Dorne Williams motored back to her home in St. Louis, Missouri, for her summer vacation, and has now registered at the University of Missouri, where she will attend school next winter.

Jane Blackistone entertained a number of her friends at a dance given at the Club Lido in the Hamilton Hotel on September the 3rd. Although it was a warm night everyone had a big time.

Dagmoir Band has been chosen by the Phi Sigs to play at their dance to be given on October 4th, at the Fraternity House.

Charlie Jaquette went to Cornell to summer school for the six weeks' session.

Janet Sheppard and Claire Beckham have matriculated at the University of Texas for the winter session.

George Wells motored through the State of Wisconsin for a month this summer.

After the close of school last spring Barbara Miller, Cecile Harrington, Eugenie Le Merle, and Dorothy Albert attended the National Alpha Delta Pi Convention at Blowing Rock, North Carolina, from June 21-28.

Margaret and Sally Ferguson and Ruth McArthur went to the University of Virginia to summer school.

Harriette Rissler motored through New York State and spent three weeks at Lake Ontario.

Barbara Miller spent the summer at Fortress Monroe, visiting Helen Kerr. They motored to West Point on Friday, September 13th, to spend the week-end.

Dotty Schenken, Julia Denning and Betsy Booth visited Orkney Springs this summer for several days.

The marriage of Irma Baulsir was of especial interest to many at G. W. She and her husband, Lieut. James Gavin, motored to San Antonio, Texas, where he is stationed.

Maude Hudson spent part of her vacation at Virginia Beach.

Dorothy Albert entertained at tea at her home on Thursday, September 19, in honor of Ruth Griggs, who is leaving Saturday for the University of Wisconsin, where she will attend school this winter.

DR. AND MRS. HARMON HONORED BY ALUMNI

Presented With Silver Bowl as Token Of Appreciation For Their Leadership

At a recent meeting of the General Alumni Association of The George Washington University, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon, who for the past five years have coached the Glee Clubs of the University, were presented with a silver bowl as a token of appreciation for their leadership.

Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., of the Board of Trustees, in making the presentation said: "Dr. and Mrs. Harmon, your leadership of the George Washington University Glee Club has been a very real one in every sense. We of the alumni feel that you have made an outstanding contribution to the esprit de corps of student life and alumni interest. It is through the stimulus of your leadership that we have a Glee Club of which the University is so justly proud, with the fame of its achievements reaching far beyond our local circles.

"As a symbol of our gratitude to you, we of the Alumni Association present you with this bowl, seemingly empty; joy that your music has wrought, in the good fellowship that it has achieved, in the inspiration that it has effected, and in the memories that will endure in the hearts of those who have been associated with you."

To record this service its inscription reads: "Dr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon, from the Alumni Association of The George Washington University, in grateful appreciation of their signal service to the University through their inspirational leadership of the Glee Clubs, 1923-1929."

DR. CHAS. RICHARDSON, PROF. EMERITUS, DIES

Famous Professor of Laryngology And Otology Succumbs to Operation at Boston

Dr. Charles Williamson Richardson, George Washington University professor emeritus, and former professor of laryngology and otology at the University, died in Boston, August 25, aged 68, following an operation performed some weeks ago.

Dr. Richardson was born August 22, 1861, in Washington, D. C., where he practiced for many years. He was a student in the Columbian, now George Washington University, from 1878 to 1880, and received his M. D. degree from that institution in 1884. He also received the M. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1884. Both institutions recognized his attainments in scientific medicine by conferring the honorary D. Sc. degree on him, George Washington University in 1921, and the University of Pennsylvania in 1927.

Dr. Richardson was professor of laryngology and otology in George Washington University from 1891 to 1924, and was at the time of his death professor emeritus. He was a fellow of the American Laryngological, Otological and Rhinological Society and president from 1902 to 1903; a member of the American Otological Society and president from 1914 to 1915; a member of the American Laryngological Society and president from 1928 to 1929, and a member of the American Climatological and Clinical Society and president from 1921 to 1922. He was also a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

In the American Medical Association he served as president of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia in 1904, as chairman of the Section on Laryngology, Otology and Rhinology in 1925, and as a trustee of the Association from 1920 to the time of his death. The term for which he was elected would not have expired until 1931.

As a trustee of the Association he served conscientiously and indefatigably, attending every session, working until late in the evening, and acting for the Association frequently in important affairs in Washington when official representation was needed. He had the ear and the confidence of many men high in governmental public life, including several Presidents of the United States, and he spoke always for the good of mankind. Seriously sick as he was, he attended the Portland session from July 8 to 12, took part in every session of the Board of Trustees and of the House of Delegates, and of the section in which he was especially interested.

Choose a Parker Duofold

—the college favorite by actual census

 Guaranteed Forever Against All Defects*

Parker Duofold Pens $5 to $10 Pencils to match the pens, $3 to $5

Christened "Parker Duofold" by Amelia Earhart, the first trans-Atlantic woman flyer, this 5-Passenger Fairchild Monoplane has, in the past 9 months, given flights to 6,200 Parker dealers and college students. This fall it will continue its tour among the colleges of America.

High altitudes and high marks are both old friends to W. Howard Ehmann, honor student at New York University. Between classes he pilots his own Curtiss plane—and in class pilots a Parker Duofold Pen.

There's very little about airplanes that Kober Cameron, Engineering Student at Stanford University, doesn't know. He's a good judge of pens, too—uses a Parker Duofold.

Here are Bill Banker, Tulane's All-American "Blond Blizzard," and Ike Sewell, former captain of University of Texas' football team—all set for a hop in a Command aire plane. When it comes to speedy writing [illegible] are Parker Duofellows.

Now numbers of colleges have their flying clubs and landing fields—but the thing that students like best to pilot through their studies is the light-flying Parker Duofold Pen that leaps to its work like a dart and writes with Pressureless Touch.

Pressureless Touch is Geo. S. Parker's 47th Improvement, combining capillary attraction with gravity feed.

A census of pens in 13 technical schools disclosed that Parker leads in popularity 2 to 1. It was voted the favorite by students in 55 colleges. And a nation-wide poll conducted by the Library Bureau proved Parker the preference by 25% above the second pen, and 48% above the third.

Non-breakable barrels of jewel-like, colorful Permanite, smartly black-tipped—28% lighter than rubber—holding 24% more ink than average, size for size.

Step to any good pen counter and select your point. Imitations can't deceive you if you look for the imprint, "Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD."

VARSITY ELEVEN IN HEAVY DRILLS SHOWS PROMISE

Clapper, Clements, Frazier, And Berkowitz Remain From Last Year's Backfield

THIRTY CANDIDATES AT FIRST CALL FOR MEN

Few Experienced Linemen Available To New Coaches In Effort To Build Team

Candidates for the football team of the University have been working out for the past two weeks at the Central High School Stadium under Coach Pixlee and his assistants.

When the call was issued, thirty men reported, a relatively large number for the University, but much too small a number for the coaches to work with and hope for favorable results.

They were immediately taken out to the Central Stadium, where they were put through light limbering up exercises for the first few days. Coaches Farrington, Connaughton, and Walsh were in active charge, with Coach Pixlee acting in an advisory capacity.

Once the athletes had loosened up their muscles, they spent several days in passing, running and punting, along with a few formations and dummy practice. It was not until the latter part of this week that the candidates were given any heavy work, which was watched over very minutely and carefully by the coaching staff, so as to avoid unnecessary accidents to the men. Coach Sexton arrived last week, filling the roster of coaches, and he immediately helped out with the Varsity while awaiting the reporting of Freshmen men.

Four Backs Return

Lettermen, who have returned from last year's Varsity, around whom this season's representation most likely will be built, are Babe Clapper, John Clements, Vernon Frazier, and Sam Berkowitz, as backfield men; and Steele McGrew, Dan Eberly, Calvin Rodgers, Bevo Miller, and Mel Frazier, on the line. Others returning from last year's aggregation, who, though not earning letters, played in several games and received valuable experience, are Dave Coombes, Robert Rollins, Justine Edgerton, and P. Bennetson. A number of last year's Freshmen, who have returned to school and are now eligible, augment the squad. The most promising of this group are Boyle, Billosoly, Jue, and Goldman. Three promising candidates, who were not on the Varsity last year, but who are eligible and doubtless will make a real fight to land regular berths, are White, Hoffman, Wilson, and Van Meter.

It is much too soon for the coaches to select a tentative line-up, as they have seen very little of their men, but with scrimmages due shortly, they expect to get a good line on the candidates in a few days.

With the reporting of the Freshmen next week, Max Farrington and Jean Sexton will devote most of their time to them, helping only occasionally with the Varsity backs. Babe Connaughton will coach the line and Leonard Walsh will handle the ends and backfield men. Head Coach Pixlee will continue in an advisory capacity, aiding both squads.

Facilities Poor

The new coaches are confronted with a difficult task, due to the lack of facilities. However, they are doing everything within their power to place a formidable team on the field.

When the thirty men reported, it was hard for the new coaches to believe that a school with such a large student body could have so few men report for football. It makes the coaches' job all the more difficult when they are forced to work with such a meagre number of men.

Then, too, the Colonials have been using the Central High School Stadium, but with that school due to open on Monday, September 23, it will be necessary for Coach Pixlee to take his men elsewhere. The Ellipse seems to be the only available place, and it is more than likely that the Hatchetites will practice there for lack of a better place.

However, notwithstanding these difficuties and though prospects for a good team are not very bright, the followers of the Colonials may rest assured that they will be represented by a courageous, fighting, and highly determined set of football players.

University Has New Buildings This Year

School of Pharmacy Will Occupy Building on H Street; Other Departments Move

The School of Pharmacy will occupy a newly acquired building on H Street which has been fitted out for its purposes. It contains the office of the Dean of the School, lecture halls, modernly equipped laboratories and a study room for students.

The new building on G Street will be occupied by the Department of Education, the Department of Philosophy and the Department of Psychology. Class rooms, offices of faculty members and psychological laboratories are located here. A new class room has been assigned to the Division of Fine Arts for pencil, pen and ink, water color and advanced antique work. The office of the Registrar of the University has been moved into the building especially constructed and equipped to house it. The entire University plant has undergone extensive repairs preparatory to the opening of the academic year.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC CALENDAR

Archery—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 1:00 to 2.00 p. m.
Golf—Hours arranged in gym office.
Hockey—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 1.30 to 2.30 p. m.
Riding—Hours arranged in gym office.

FROSH AND VARSITY TO PRACTICE TOGETHER

Will Meet on Tidal Basin Field Each Afternoon From Three To Seven

Starting Monday, September 23, the freshman football team will practice each day from 3 to 7 o'clock on the Tidal Basin field. The frosh and varsity will meet at the same place at the same time so that the yearlings may benefit from the entire five-man coaching staff which has been installed at G. W. this year.

This staff consists of Mr. Pixlee, the new athletic head of the school; Babe Connaughton, line coach, an All-American selection while at Georgetown; Leonard Walsh, end coach, an All-American choice at Minnesota; Gene Sexton of Westminster and Illinois, who is instructing the backs; and Max Farrington, also of Westminster, who is directly responsible for all G. W.'s freshman teams.

"First rate equipment, and not cast-off material, will be guaranteed every freshman, big or little, who reports for football this season, and each man will be given every opportunity to prove his ability before the first team is picked," says Mr. Farrington.

Judging from the several new men who have already signified their intention of turning out next Monday, the coaches predict a heavy team for the season.

INTERFRAT TENNIS NOW REACHES FINAL ROUND

Kappa Sigs In Finals By Virtue of Victory Over T. U. O. In Summer Match

The Interfraternity Tennis Tournament started last spring was unable to be completed before the close of school, due to inclement weather.

However, several matches were played during the summer, and as a result of which Kappa Sigma reached the final round. They earned their place by virtune of a victory over T. U. O.

In the other half of the draw, two teams, Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa, are staging a hotly contested fight to determine who will enter the final round against the Kappa Sigs. Three singles matches were played between the two teams with the Phi Sigs holding the upper hand as a result of winning two matches.

It is expected that they will complete their doubles very soon, and it is hoped that the finals will be played during the first week of school.

This tournament is proving to be a far more interesting one than in past years because of the fact that letter men were not allowed to compete for their fraternity. This ruling of the Interfraternity Council barred such men as Phillips, Considine, and Sickler from participating. Naturally the play in the series has been more hotly contested and rivalry has been greater.

The Interfraternity Council is extremely anxious that the tournament be completed early, in order to avoid the unfortunate result of last year's tournament, which was never finished and the championship divided between Kappa Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Athletics Required Of New Women Students

Plans for the Physical Education Department for Women under the direction of Miss Ruth Atwell, include certain compulsory courses for freshmen and sophomore women which are required for graduation. Students entering the University with advanced standing are exempt from this requirement if they have satisfactorily completed the work elsewhere.

In addition to the regular hygiene course offered to freshmen women one hour a week, they may take their choice of various sports offered during each season. For the fall season freshmen may elect one sport from hockey, archery, hiking or soccer.

Sophomore women may elect their sports from one of the following: hockey, archery, golf, tennis, riding or soccer. A complete change of program is offered for the winter season, but swimming is required throughout the winter term for all sophomores who are unable to pass the swimming test.

JUSTICE STAFFORD NAMED AS EMERITUS PROFESSOR

Honor Given In Recognition of Long And Valuable Service

In recognition of his long and valuable service to the University, Justice Wendell Philips Stafford has been designated Emeritus Professor of Law.

Justice Stafford has had a distinguished career in law and as a member of judiciary. A graduate of Boston University, he practised law in Vermont and was a member of the legislature of that State. He served as judge of the Supreme Court of Vermont, and, since 1904, has been Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the District. He is the editor of a number of legal works and the author of several volumes of patriotic poems.

EIGHT FOOTBALL GAMES PLANNED

Four Foes To Be Tackled Are Enemies From Last Year

FIVE GAMES TO BE AT HOME

The Usual Thanksgiving Game With The Catholic University Is Planned

The football schedule of the University for this year, as announced by the authorities in the sport, will consist of eight games.

Four of the foes to be encountered are either new to the University or are a revival of several years back. Teams in this category are Manhattan College of New York City, Dickinson College of Carlisle, Pa., St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia, and Juniata, another Pennsylvania team from Juniata. Last year's enemies who will be tackled again this season are American University of this city, the College of the City of New York, William and Mary College of Williamsburg, Va., and the usual Thanksgiving game with Catholic University.

Fortunately for the followers of the Colonials, five of the eight games scheduled will be played in Washington. The opening game will be played here, on a field as yet unannounced, against Manhattan. With everyone anxious to see the players, who will compose the Hatchetites' line-up in action, a good turnout is expected. George Washington has the privilege of selecting the gridiron upon which American U. will be met, while St. Joseph's and Juniata will visit here during November.

The traditional clash of the year with the Cardinals of Catholic U. will be played on some neutral field, not yet known.

The Varsity Schedule;
1. Manhattan College, October 5, Washington.
2. American University, October 12, Washington.
3. Dickinson College, October 19, Carlisle, Pa.
4. City College of New York, October 26, New York.
5. William and Mary, November 2, Williamsburg, Va.
6. St. Joseph, November 9, Washington.
7. Juniata, November 16, Washington.
8. Catholic University, Thanksgiving, neutral field.

VARIED FALL SPORTS OFFERED TO WOMEN

Archery, Hockey, Riding and Golf Are Offered at Opening of School Year

Among the foremost of the fall sports offered to university women at the opening of the school year is hockey, which will be given under the instruction of Miss Ruth Atwell.

Group instruction both for beginners and advanced players and Varsity practice will be held during September, October, and November, on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 1.30 to 2.30, on the Ellipse.

Group instruction in soccer will parallel with that of field hockey in November at the same hour under the direction of Miss Janet Jones.

Classes in archery will be given both in the fall and the spring by Miss Jones on the fundamentals of correct form. Instruction will begin in September through November, and will be taken up again in April and May.

Arrangements are made with a riding school whereby this sport is offered to students interested in this sport. Hours may be arranged by application at the gymnasium office.

Group instruction is also being offered University women again this fall in golf by a golf professional. Students who are interested are asked to sign up in the gymnasium office.

Athletic System For Next Year Extensive

Coach Pixlee to Make Physical Education For Frosh and Soph Men Compulsory

The athletic system of the University for the coming year bids fair to become a very extensive one. Coach Pixlee is to institute into the University a very compact and thorough system, which should prove a very efficient and profitable one.

Under the program to be undertaken by Coach Pixlee all Freshmen and Sophomores will be compelled to take physical education. Along with this course each student is to be required to select and go out for one sport. The obvious result of this will be an increased number of candidates for the athletic teams of the University, and both the student and school will be benefited.

Several new sports are also to be started and gradually built up to a degree equal to that of other universities throughout the country.

Boxing will be one of the new sports to be started and a coach has been selected. The call for candidates will probably be issued shortly after the opening of school.

Baseball will become one of the leading sports and a long and difficult schedule is being arranged. Coach Max Farrington will be in complete charge of the nine. This sport has been in a backward state for several years, and many of the students are awaiting enthusiastically for spring to roll around.

Basketball will again occupy a prominent place, while other sports to be followed are swimming, tennis, golf, and probably wrestling.

BULLETIN

A big Athletic Rally, under the auspices of the Colonial Club, will be held in Corcoran Hall on Thursday, September 26, at 8 p. m. President Marvin, Dean Doyle, and Pixlee will speak.

The Freshman Mixer, under the auspices of the Colonial Club, will take place in Corcoran Hall on Friday, September 27, from 10 to 1. Lido music will be furnished. Subscription, one dollar, stag or couple. Informal.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE AMBITIOUS

Feature Game of Season Is To Be Played at Annapolis, Md., November 16

The schedule of the Freshman football team is by far the most ambitious ever undertaken by a yearling aggregation of the school. Eight attractive games have been arranged.

Games have not only been scheduled with freshmen teams of other universities, but also with several college junior varsities.

The feature game of the season for the youngsters is to be played at Annapolis on November 16, when the Naval Academy "B" Squad will be encountered. This game is to be started between the halves of the Georgetown-Navy game.

The season opens with a game against the Georgetown Freshmen on October 11. Games are then to be played against such elevens as the Western Maryland Freshmen, University of Maryland Junior Varsity, Johns Hopkins Freshmen, Emerson Prep and St. John's College Junior Varsity in that order. The season will be brought to a close with the annual clash with the Catholic University Freshmen, which will probably be played as a preliminary to the Varsity game.

An unusual feature of the schedule is that of the eight games played, seven are to be contested on local fields, and with prospects for a very successful season the Frosh should play before capacity crowds.

Schedule

Georgetown Freshmen, October 11, at home.
Western Maryland Freshmen, October 19, at home.
University of Maryland Junior Varsity, October 26, at home.
Johns Hopkins Freshmen, November 2, at home.
Emerson Institute, November 6, at home.
St. John's College Junior Varsity, November 9, at home.
Naval Academy "B" Squad, November 16, Annapolis.
Catholic University Freshmen, Thanksgiving Day, at home.

Entire Fraternity Gives Chase When Burglar Is Heard By Night Student

Armed with tennis rackets and baseball bats and clad in pajamas, a half dozen students of The George Washington University captured an alleged burglar after an exciting chase which got under way at their Fraternity House, 1707 Massachusetts Avenue, and ended in front of Secretary Mellon's residence at Eighteenth and Massachusetts Avenue.

The alleged intrudor was heard moving about on a lower floor by a medical student, Charles Fleck, 23 years old, who was burning midnight oil over his studies in his room on the third floor. Fleck quickly aroused other occupants of the Acacia Fraternity House and together they went down the steps.

The stranger must have sensed that other occupants were awake, because he tip-toed to the rear of the house and descended the steps that led to a side door. At the threshold the man broke into a sprint and his pursuers followed.

The students said they had missed nothing from the premises today, although the fraternity house had been visited several times within the last few months by a sneak thief who made off with jewelry and loose change and miscellaneous clothing.

The man is thought to have entered through an open window on the ground floor.

SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN HIGH SCHOOL GRADS

Columbian Women Pick Martha Osborn, Jean Kelly and Margaret Cooper for Awards

In consideration of high scholastic achievement and demonstrated capacity for leadership, three of this June's honor graduates of the local high schools have been selected by The Columbian Women of The George Washington University to hold Columbian Women scholarships at the University next year, and will enter upon their college careers in the fall. The winners of the scholarships announced by Dean Elizabeth Peet, chairman of the Columbian Women Scholarship committee, are Martha Osborn, 1900 H Street, a graduate of Western High School; Jean Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kelly, 200 Primrose Street, a graduate of Western High School; and Margaret Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, 2225 Otis Street N. E., a graduate of Central.

Dean Peet also announces that Virginia Barrett, Evelyn Schurtz and Nanette Dembitz, who have held Columbian Women scholarships during the past year, will retain their scholarships during the coming year, having most creditably completed their freshman year at the University.

The new scholarship students all have demonstrated unusual ability in high school. Martha Osborn was graduated from Western High School fifth in a class of 240. She is a member of the Western High School Chapter of the national high school honor society and was active in the literary society and the glee club. Jean Kelly is a member of the Girl Reserves, shot on the Western High School Rifle Team and was active in dramatics. Margaret Cooper was a member of the national high school honor society at Central and maintained a high scholastic record throughout her high school course, at the same time taking an active part in student affairs.

Since its founding in 1894, The Columbian Women of The George Washington University has aided many young women of Washington to obtain a college education and these scholarship students have become valuable members of the community as successful teachers, business or professional women.

Young Resigns To Go To St. Paul College

G. W. Professor to Become Head of Department of Economics in Macalester College

Forrest Albert Young, A. M., of the Department of Economics of The George Washington University, has resigned to accept a position on the teaching staff of Macalester College, St. Paul, Minnesota. He will become head of the Department of Economics of that institution.

Before coming to The George Washington University, Mr. Young, who holds the degree of B. S. from Monmouth College and the degree of A. M. from the University of Chicago, taught at Assiut College, Assiut, Egypt. He has studied at the London School of Economics and has traveled extensively in Europe, Western Asia and Asia Minor, studying economic conditions in the Near East. During 1925-1926 he was the Chicago Daily News lecturer on the Near East, giving a series of lectures in Chicago community centers.

Mr. Young is a member of the American Economic Association, the National Association of Teachers of Marketing and Advertising, and the Atlantic States Railroad Shippers Advisory Board.

TRYOUTS TO BE IN OCTOBER FOR MUSICAL COMEDY

Fifth Annual Show of Troubadours to be Staged in December at Wardman

DENNIS CONNEL WILL DIRECT PRODUCTION

Music By Jemison, Beattie and Westbrook Submitted; Book Not Yet Chosen

The Troubadours of George Washington are establishing a precedent this year by presenting their annual musical comedy in December rather than in the spring. It will play for a week at the Wardman Park Theater.

This will be the fifth original production which they have staged at the University. All the music and the book itself is the work of students.

Dennis Connel, well known dramatic coach, has again promised to coach the cast.

Tryouts for the girls' chorus and specialty numbers will be held the first week in October. The exact date will be announced in a later edition of The Hatchet.

Last years' show, "Sometime Soon," will long be remembered as one of the snappiest and most tuneful comedies. Many of those who played such a large part in making it a success are expected to be back in school working on the 1929 production.

Jemison is Music Head

Bill Jemison, musical director of "Sometime Soon" and composer of some of its best songs, is again in charge of the music as well as being managing director. He has already written several numbers which promise to rival the famous "I'll Get Bye-Bye" blues that was so popular last year.

Dan Beattie, assistant musical director, who wrote "What Care I?" has also submitted many good songs. A newcomer, at least in the composing field, is Frank Westbrook, who has written two good numbers.

Any student at George Washington is eligible to write songs for the show and should turn them in to Bill Jemison, the Sigma Chi House, 1312 N Street.

Three Books Submitted

Three books have been submitted to the committee up to date. As yet, however, no decision has been made public. Ralph Kennedy, who is the assistant managing director for this year, is the author of one. Pern Henninger, stage manager, has written one, and Frank Westbrook another.

With such a wealth of material from which to choose the board of directors expect to put on the best musical comedy ever staged at the University.

Chorus Routines Set

Most of the dance routines for the girls' chorus have already been set. As in the past the chorus will be divided into three groups. There will be ten or twelve in each and they will be grouped according to size; tall, middle and small. Julia Denning has again been named dancing director.

Assistants are needed in most of the departments and a general meeting will be held, at which all those who are interested may apply. The departments include: Dancing, music, costuming, scenery, publicity and business.

"BIG SISTERS" WILL BE GIVEN FROSH WOMEN

Membership Drive of Y. W. C. A. Now Being Conducted Under Winnie Beall, Chairman

The Little Sister Movement which is carried on each year by the Y. W. C. A., will again be a prominent feature of the first weeks of school. Every freshman woman is assigned a "big sister"; an older-class girl who is to introduce her to the ways of the G. W. campus, and make it possible for her to meet the other co-eds.

At the time of registration the "big sisters" are sent the names and addresses of their "little sisters" and are asked to call them immediately and make arrangements to take them to the Matriculation Day Tea, the first formal University affair of the season.

During the next weeks, a series of informal luncheons will be given in the Woman's Building. The price will be nominal, and the "big sisters" will be asked to accompany their "little sisters" to at least one of these luncheons.

At the end of three weeks, the Y. W. will give a large bridge party for all the freshman women of the University, to which their big sisters are also invited.

If for any reason the "little sister" does not hear from her "big sister" during the first few days, she is asked to leave her name and address in the office of the Secretary for Women's Activities, Mrs. Barrows, in Building 8. Any old girl who wishes to be a "big sister" may give her name, address, and telephone number to Dorothy Albert, Chairman of the Little Sister Movement.

The Membership Drive of the Y. W. C. A. is being conducted the first weeks of school under the direction of Winnie Beall. The Y. W. has a table in the registration line, at which the fee of one dollar may be paid.

DEAN VAN VLECK RETURNS FROM LAW CONFERENCE

Dean William C. Van Vleck, of the Law School, who, during the summer, has been a member of the Faculty of the University of Michigan Law School, returned to Washington on September 16, after attending the conference of the Advisors on Conflict of Laws Section of the American Law Institute.

MANY NEW COURSES ARE OFFERED G. W. STUDENTS

New courses to be offered during the coming year include, in the Department of Education: Elementary Education, Educational Supervision and Child Development; in the Department of Economics: Insurance, Public Finance and Federal Taxation; in the Division of Fine Arts: still life painting in oil and life painting in oil; in the Division of Library Science: graduate work in Library Sciences, Children's Literature and Library Work with Children, Library Extension and Adult Education; in the Department of Public Speaking: Business and Professional Speaking, Argumentation and Debate, Oral Interpretation of Literature, Persuasion and Forms of Public Address, Dramatization and Play Production; in the Department of Sociology: Educational Sociology, Urban Sociology, City Planning, Culture and Social Progress, Administration of Social Work, History of Social Work, Population and Related Social Problems, Contemporary Culture and Cultural Change, the Literature of Sociology and a seminar in Regional Sociology which will deal with the life of the City of Washington; Department of Zoology: Heredity and Eugenics and Genetics.

TWO ALUMNI ELECTED TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Edson of Washington and Brigadier General Andrews of New York New Members

John Joy Edson, Washington philanthropist and banker, and Brigadier General Avery D. Andrews, lawyer and banker of New York City, have been elected to membership on the Board of Trustees of The George Washington University as the result of their selection by Alumni of the University throughout the country, the University has announced. Alumni of the University are represented on the Board by six trustees of their own nomination, two of whom are elected each year for terms of three years. Mr. Edson has served as an Alumni Trustee of the University since 1901.

The Board also has elected to membership Charles W. Gerstenberg, Chairman of the Board of Prentice-Hall, Inc., of New York City.

General Andrews, who is a graduate of the United States Military Academy and of The George Washington University Law School, has been active in the service of his Alma Mater, and at present is President of the George Washington Alumni Club of New York.

General Andrews has had a distinguished career in the Army and as a lawyer and financier. He served throughout the Spanish-American War and the World War, filling many high military posts. He has been decorated with the Cross of the Legion of Honor of France, the Order of the Crown of Belgium and the Distinguished Service medal. As a practicing lawer in New York City he was general counsel of the Barber Asphalt Paving Company, the General Asphalt Company, the Uintah Railway Company and other associated corporations, and was American representative of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company of Holland and the Shell Trading and Transport Company of London. General Andrews serves on the directorates of a number of large banks and corporations, among them the Irving Trust Company of New York, the Central National Bank of Philadelphia, and the Mexican Eagle Oil Company.

Mr. Gerstenberg, who is Chairman of the Board of the Prentice-Hall Book Company of New York, was formerly Professor of Finance and Secretary of the School of Commerce of New York University. He is a member of the American Economic Association and the American Statistical Association, and is the author of a number of books on finance.

Mr. Gerstenberg is known in college and university circles throughout the country through his work as Vice President of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Recently he was one of the principal speakers at the national convention of the Association of Deans and Advisors of Men, held in Washington under the auspices of The George Washington University.

FRESHMAN LAW CLASS DIVIDED IN TWO UNITS

Additions to Personnel Include C. D. Benson of Emory University And J. W. Cox

In order to preserve small instructional units, and to provide for heavy enrollment, late afternoon sections of all freshman classes in The George Washington University Law School will be divided into two units this year, it is announced by Dean William Cabell Van Vleck.

A number of changes in the personnel of the Law Faculty have occurred. Carville Dickinson Benson, A. B., LL. B., S. J. D., has been appointed Assistant Professor of Law. Professor Benson, who is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University and of Harvard University, formerly was Assistant Professor of Law at Emory University Law School. He will give courses in Corporations, Administrative Law, Public Utilities and Contracts.

Joseph Winston Cox, LL. B., Professorial Lecturer in Law, will succeed Judge John Willer Latimer as Judge of the Moot Court. Judge Latimer will continue to give the course in Evidence. The Moot Court of Appeals will have as Chief Justice Leon Tobriner, LL. B., and as Associate Justices, Brainard Warner Parker, LL. B., and Reginald Shippen Huidekoper, LL. B.

Dr. Fred A. Moss Addresses Ninth Psychological Congress at Yale

Recognition of Insanity and Treatment of Criminally Insane are Important Topics Presented to International Congress Of Scientists at New Haven

Society's gravest danger from criminal insanity arises from the fact that certain types of mental disorders that often lead to the most serious crimes are not recognized, or if they are recognized, their predisposing influence to crime is overlooked, Professor Fred A. Moss, head of the Psychology Department of The George Washington University, told members assembled at the Ninth Internatfonal Congress of Psychology at Yale University.

Two problems of great practical significance to society emerge from this fact, Dr. Moss said: First, how more effectively to recognize persons suffering from such disorders before they commit the crime; and second, what to do with them after they have committed a serious crime but are found not guilty because of insanity. In the latter instance, Professor Moss pointed out, when they are placed in an institution for the criminally insane they often succeed, after a few years, in obtaining a release, and society is again exposed to danger from them.

Professor Moss, who is a psychologist and psychiatrist of note, is widely known for his psychological experiments to determine causes of human behavior, and for his authorship of aptitude tests for various vocations, which are used in educational institutions and industrial plants throughout the country.

He holds the degrees of Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Medicine from The George Washington University, the degree of Master of Arts from Columbia University and the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Mercer University.

LOWER DIVISION NEWLY CREATED

Size of Administrative Units To Be Reduced In Columbian College

HILL TO BE IN CHARGE

Dean Doyle Will Be Dean of Men In the New Lower Division

In order properly to administer the large student body of Columbian College, the College of Arts and Sciences of The George Washington University, the size of administrative units is to be reduced by assigning students of the Freshman and Sophomore classes, including not only liberal arts students, but also prelegal, premedical, preeducational and other preprofessional groups, to a newly created Lower Division, it is announced by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of the University.

Dean Charles E. Hill, of Columbian College, will be in charge of general administration of the College and will supervise the work of junior and senior students. Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, who has been advisor to men's organizations at the University since 1926, and Dean of Men since 1927, has been appointed Dean of the Lower Division in Columbian College.

The new arrangement will be in force with the opening of the academic year on September 25.

Dean Doyle has been a member of the faculty of The George Washington University since 1916 and Professor of Romance Languages since 1921. Not only is he thoroughly familiar with the educational problems of students, but because of his long service as advisor to student organizations and as Dean of Men, and his experience in the supervision of student activities, he has also had unusual opportunity to become familiar with the life and interests of students outside of the classroom.

Dean Doyle is a graduate of Harvard University, where he was an instructor from 1913 to 1916, and has been active in the affairs of Harvard Alumni organizations. His field of instruction is the Romance Languages, especially Romance philology and Spanish. In addition to his work at the University, he was Lecturer in French Philology in the graduate department of Johns Hopkins University in 1926-27. He has also taught at Cornell University.

Dean Doyle is well known as a Spanish teacher, contributes a monthly survey of events in South America to "Current History" and was recently appointed a member of the Harvard Council on Hispano-American Studies, which under the chairmanship of Professor J. D. M. Ford of Harvard, is undertaking important studies in Hispanic-American belles-lettres. He is associate editor of "Hispania," the official publication of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and assistant managing editor of "The Modern Language Journal." He represents the Association of Schools and Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland on the American Council on Education, of which he was recently elected secretary.

Commenting upon the administrative reorganization of Columbian College, President Cloyd Heck Marvin said, "The handling of large masses of students constitutes one of the major problems of the administration of the modern University. Increased efficiency in the technical aspects of this problem has not always been accompanied by a corresponding effort to insure that the individual student shall not be overlooked, and that his special needs in the matter of advice and counsel, not only as to his academic work, but also in respect to all his activities in college, shall be met. Under the new administrative system we shall be able to care for increasing enrollment without detriment to the individual student."

HOLT BECOMES ADVISER FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

Last Year Forty-One Foreign Countries Were Represented In Student Body of G. W.

In the interest of its many students from abroad, The George Washington University established the office of Adviser to Students from Foreign Countries, and appointed thereto William Stull Holt, Ph. D., it is announced by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of the University.

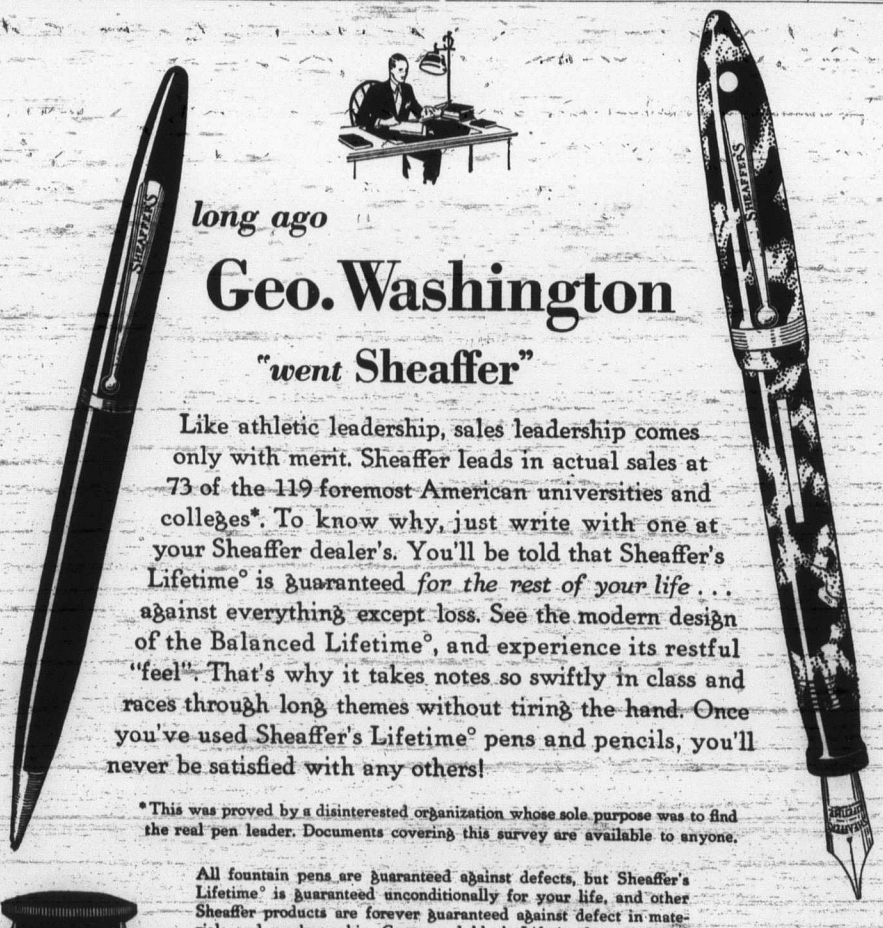

It is believed that George Washington is the first institution of higher learning in the United States to establish such an office.

The group of foreign students who come to the nation's capital to pursue their education at the University is large and diversified. Last year forty-one foreign countries were represented in the student body, including Russia, Canada, England, Italy, Germany, Porto Rico, Poland, China, Panama, France, Sweden, Japan, Norway, Hungary, Switzerland, Ireland, Spain, Czechoslovakia, Scotland, Wales, Algeria, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Chile, Cuba, Ecuador, Egypt, Greece, Haiti, Jamaica, Iraq, Mexico, Netherlands, Nova Scotia, Palestine, Prussia, Roumania, Syria, Uruguay and Sicily.

To insure that young people from these diverse cultures shall gain the most from study at the University, both in academic achievement and understanding of American ideals and institutions, the administration feels that they should have as counsellor a person of broad sympathies and with an intimate knowledge of international affairs.

Professor Holt is well fitted for the post. A specialist in the field of history and political science, he has made a close study of the foreign relations of the United States, and has lived and travelled extensively abroad. He holds the degrees of A. B. from Cornell University; A. M. from The George Washington University, and Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins University.
